DETAILED ACTION

Page 2

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7 have been considered.
 Applicant's amendment necessitated a new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, this action is made final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 3. Claims 1-7, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shaw et al. (USP 5,845,058).

With respect to claim 1, Shaw et al. discloses a partial print provider (shown in fig 1 and 2) that permits a first print spooler (print spooler 42 of fig 3) associated with a network print server (print server 22 of fig 2) to interface with a second print spooler (second print spooler 50 of fig 3) associated with the network print server (22 of fig 2) for further processing of a print job submitted to the network print server (22 of fig 2) from a network print client (application program 33 of fig 2; "the first spooler 42 and the second spooler 50 are associated with a print server 22 of fig 2, via an application 3 of fig 2, see col.5, line 65-col.6, lines 35-38").

With respect to claim 2, Shaw et al. discloses a partial print provider (as shown in fig 2 and 3), wherein the network print server (print server 22 of fig 2) is operating window NT software, see (col.6, lines 60-65), and the second print spooler (50 of fig 3) is a window NT print spooler, (the system shown in fig 2 and 3 operates in window NT environment, see col.6, lines 60-65).

With respect to claim 3, Shaw et al. disclose a partial print provider (as shown in fig 2 and 3) wherein the interface between the NT print spooler (spooler of fig 2) and the first spooler (spooler 42 of fig 3) permits the first spooler (42 of fig 3) to leverage of on Microsoft's print services protocol and network technologies (printers 24a, 24b and 24c are connected to the local printer server which is a Microsoft print services protocol in a network environment, see col.5, lines 34-35, and see fig 2).

With respect to claim 4, Shaw et al., discloses a partial print provider wherein the partial print provider is a dynamically linked library file (a dynamic-link library (DDL) which is provided as a means for allowing communication with printer which has a Communication protocol [code for implementing DDL is inherently provided in print server network environment)

With respect to claim 5, Shaw et al. discloses a partial print provider, (as shown in fig 2 and 3) wherein all print jobs received by the second spooler (second spooler 50 Art Unit: 2626 of fig 3), are forwarded to the first spooler (spooler 42 of fig 2) for further processing, see (col.5, lines 65-col.6, lines 35-38).

With respect to claim 6, Shaw et al. discloses a partial print provider, (as shown in fig 2 and 3) wherein the partial print provider can be modified to establish an interface between the first print spooler (spooler 42 of fig 2) and any second spooler (second spooler 50 of fig 3).

Response to the Arguments

4. Applicant's response dated July 23, 2004 have been reviewed and respectfully considered. The remarks made by applicant regarding the relevance of the prior art with regard to claim 1 as amended has been found persuasive.

However, Applicant's amendment necessitated a new ground(s) of rejection as presented in this Office action. The detail of the office action as stated in paragraph 2 of this office action shows the cited prior art fully discloses the limitation of claims 1-7 as amended.

Therefore, for the reasons discussed above claims 1-7 are not in condition for allowance.
